

South Bend Tribune

Serving north central Indiana and southwestern Michigan since 1872

HOME NEWS SPORTS BUSINESS ENTERTAINMENT LIFESTYLES OBITUARIES CLASSIFIEDS

LOCAL ELECTIONS LOTTERY COMMUNITY OPINION WEATHER NATIONWORLD SPECIAL REPORTS

HOT TOPICS: Blackhawks-Red Wings | COMING SOON: Uncovering the local heroin epidemic | Summer events | Readers' Choice Results 2013

Search

Home > News > Opinion

INDIANA OPINION

Cleaning up voter rolls a good move

Comments 2

0

0

3

From The Tribune-Star, Terre Haute, Ind.

6:48 a.m. EDT, May 27, 2013

It's not a lot of money in the big scheme of things, but the $2 million designated in the recent session of the General Assembly will begin the messy but necessary process of cleaning up Indiana's voter registration rolls.

Bloated voter rolls in every one of the state's 92 counties contain the names of people who have moved away, are in prison or have died. Their presence on the registration lists make elections vulnerable to the type of shenanigans that can truly affect the outcome of elections.

Topics

- Elections

Indiana Secretary of State Connie Lawson is in charge of the state's elections and led the charge to obtain the funds for the statewide project. She knows the importance of cleaning up the voter rolls in maintaining the integrity of the elections and meeting requirements of state and federal laws.

"Every duplicate name and every bad address is just an opportunity for vote fraud," Lawson said.

Purging voter rolls is a painstaking process that requires mass mailings to voters to verify their status and address. It takes time and money. But the end result is worth it in the pursuit of elections that voters can trust.

What is particularly encouraging about this measure and others like it, such as the expansion of voting centers, is that it offers truly meaningful and effective steps at improving elections and making them more voter friendly and less susceptible to tampering. That's in stark contrast to laws adopted that were clearly motivated by politics, measures such as the state's voter ID law, which had more to do with a nationwide Republican Party strategy of suppressing the turnout of voters more likely to vote Democratic.

To be fair, the plan to clean up voter rolls was initiated in part by federal actions and a pending lawsuit over the poor condition of Indiana's voter rolls. Whatever it takes to spur action, however, is a good thing. The law takes effect July 1, and we urge all entities involved to move decisively.

Hoosier voters should be able to view the results of their elections with confidence. Cleaning up voter rolls is a major move in that direction.

Copyright © 2013, South Bend Tribune

Comments 2

0

0

3

We Recommend

- Popular St. Joseph restaurant in trouble
- Conservative speakers need not apply
- Another reason to be a proud American
- Notre Dame football recruiting: Jones puts Irish in his final four
- EPA action adds to mystery, concern about pollution of Beck's Lake site

From Around the Web

- ESPN, Despite Growth, Is Cutting 300 to 400 Jobs (The New York Times)
- It's Always Sunny In Right To Work States (Labor Pains)
- The 'growing' wealth gap between Congress and constituents: By the numbers (The Week Magazine)
- Man of the year: Seize the moment (LatinFinance)
- Why This Is The Worst US Recovery On Record (Social Europe Journal)

Recommended by

More Opinion Stories

Bewitching memories for this film buff

6:47 a.m.

A wickedly good effect on area

6:47 a.m.

Online tax and small business

6:28 a.m.

Dr. Richard Feldman: Solving America's runaway health care system

6:39 a.m.

Another reason to be a proud American

Memorial Day

Conservative speakers need not apply

Top Jobs

- Ag Equipment Service Technician
- Manufacturing Maintenance Supervisor
- Account Manager, English & Spanish Phone S...
- Multiple Openings!!
- Class A Driving Instructors
- ACCOUNT AUDITOR
- Maintenance Mechanics
- Pre-Post Op RN, HIM Manager, Plant Operati...
- Nurses
- Healthcare Opportunities

Top Homes | Top Rentals | See All

Add a comment...

Comment

Julianne Michigan · Works at Radio DJ

Personally, I am more concerned about the voting machines with no paper trail in Indiana. How many will be dropped off the voter rolls "accidently" during this new measure of "clean up"?

Reply · 1 · Like · 23 hours ago

IC Spots · University of Notre Dame

Ms. Michigan, So true. And this moves beyond partisan politics as well: Dems and Reps across the country have brought into question "paperless-trail" voting.

Reply · Like · 22 hours ago

IC Spots · University of Notre Dame

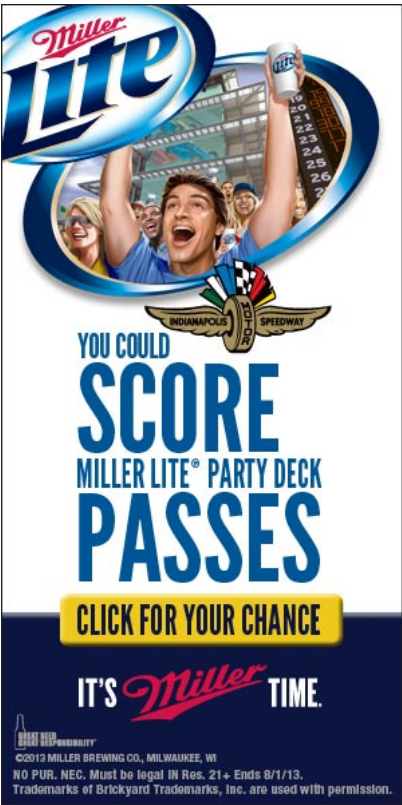

Don't you love this: "To be fair, the plan to clean up voter rolls was initiated in part by federal actions and a pending lawsuit over the poor condition of Indiana's voter rolls. Whatever it takes to spur action, however, is a good thing.".....Ah, my State: wait until the last minute or until you're forced to do something by a real court.

Imagined conversation in Indiana State House, circa 1920s: "Hey, what cha think about this new thing here called E-lec-tris-i-tee. Think we should be gettin' ourselves sum?" "Not rightfully sure. Looks kinda daing-ous. That stuff floatin' up 'round there in them thin why-urs." "Yeah. And b'sides, Fedrul Guvment gonna come in and tell us we's need it." "Like heck it is! Ain't gonna tell me we's half ta have that stuff floatin' 'round up thar in them thin why-urs!" "Heck yeahh!"

Oh, the abundance of Hoosier Commonsense we have.

Reply · Like · 22 hours ago

Facebook social plugin

Miller Lite

YOU COULD SCORE
MILLER LITE® PARTY DECK
PASSES

CLICK FOR YOUR CHANCE

IT'S Miller TIME.

©2012 MILLER BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WI
NO PUR. NEC. Must be legal in Res. 21+ Ends 8/1/13.
Trademarks of Brickyard Trademarks, Inc. are used with permission.

Most Viewed

- 1. Notre Dame Football analysis: Where do the Irish, Golson go from here?
- 2. Notre Dame football: Is Irish drama ego-driven?
- 3. Soldier proposes during South Bend parade
- 4. Notre Dame Football analysis: Where do the Irish, Golson go from here?
- 5. LaPorte gearing up for grand prix
- 6. Several South Bend businesses forced to close Memorial Day after power outage
- 7. Notre Dame baseball: No bid for ND; IU, Valpo to meet
- 8. Tear gas puts end to four-hour standoff in Mishawaka
- 9. Running the first Sunburst marathon was a 'thrill'
- 10. Group claims Ball State professor teaching creationism

South Bend Tribune

Like

10,063 people like South Bend Tribune.

Facebook social plugin

South Bend Tribune on Facebook

Join the conversation

Connect

Facebook >
Like usText Alerts >
News updatesTwitter >
Follow usRSS >
Stream usE-mail newsletter >
E-mail newsSBT News App >
Mobile news

HOME

Subscribe
Reader Rewards
Obituaries
Arrangements Pending
Story Archives
Lottery
Columnists
Live Chats
Photos / Videos
Photo Store

NEWS

Local Elections
Community
Opinion
Business
Entertainment
Weather
Nation/World
Special Reports

SPORTS

Notre Dame
High School
College Sports
Pro Sports

LIFESTYLE

Food
Travel
Celebrations
Pets

CONNECT

Mobile Apps
Mobile Site
Text Alerts
E-newsletter
Facebook pages
Twitter accounts
RSS Feeds

ADVERTISING

Classifieds
Jobs
Cars
Homes
Advertise with us
Red Plum Coupons
Readers' Choice 2013

SouthBendTribune.com

Jobs at the Tribune Terms of Service Privacy Policy Contact Us Copyright © 1994-2011 South Bend Tribune

A Schurz Communications website, powered by Tribune Digital